AT BASEBALL PARK.

Trustees of the baseball league, captains and managers of teams, together with others, were present at the new baseball park Sunday morning for the purpose of inspecting the work in progress there. The stand was found to have been constructed with an idea of making things comfortable for every one. It will hold 1200 people in the central section and two wings. Beneath the stand there are a half dozen rooms for players to dress and store what they take out with them. Then there are shower baths with excellent plumbing.

The field has been completely changed. All the algaroba trees with the exception of a few, have been cut down and the roots taken out and a coating of loam is now being spread over the field. The steam roller was put on the grounds this morning. The field will be ready for the games on Saturday next. The plans will be discussed at a meeting of the league this afternoon.

NEW CIGAR COMPANY

The Gunst-Eakin Cigar Company opened up for business in the new two-story building at the corner of King and Fort streets this morning and the place has been crowded all day with people anxious to have a look at the beautiful interior furnishings and fittings and to catch a breath of the delicious aroma that rises from the stock of high-class goods in the place.

The new company is practically a branch of the big house of M. A. Gunst & Co., of San Francisco, which controls big stores in places like New York, Portland and Los Angeles—a firm that sold 50,000,000 of cigars during the last year and this, too, in the face of the fact of having to cater to the small end of the population on account of the very high-class goods handled.

The branch of Gunst & Co. in Honolulu will have control of the islands of the Pacific and, though on a smaller scale, it will be on the same basis as the biggest branch. The opening was made here to get a chance at the island trade and, with this as a starting point, the company will gradually work its way westward. The local house will have the benefit of the purchasing and distribution privileges just as all the other branches under the control of the M. A. Gunst Co.

The new store is elegantly fitted up in glass and mahogany, with tiled floor. At the rear is the office. In the basement, the basement and walls are of cement. This place will be used for the wholesale department.

A. L. Escey, of San Francisco, who arrived here a few days since, is attending to the preliminaries in connection with the launching of the new branch of the big tobacco house.

SHROUDED IN MYSTERY

Yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock Katataka Muira, the Japanese sailor from the steamer W. G. Hall, who was mysteriously shot on Halekuanila street last Friday night, died from his injuries. Detective McDuffie, who is investigating the case, on hearing of the affair last Friday night, interviewed the deceased at the hospital. Muira said that as he was walking along quietly he was suddenly struck by the bullet, which it would seem came from the direction of the lumber yard on the makai side of the street. He turned but could see no one. He had not quarreled with anyone and thought that his assailant must have taken him for someone else.

When extracted, the bullet was found to be of 22 caliber. McDuffie found a native hat lying in the middle of the street. This is the only clue. It may have belonged to the deceased, as McDuffie did not have an opportunity to show it to him for identification, on account of the unexpectedness of his death.

A coroner's jury viewed the body yesterday. It was to meet this noon but was postponed until tonight at 7:30 o'clock. The most plausible theory as to the murderer's identity seems to be that he was some young native boy who was playing with a 22-caliber revolver. A surprisingly large number of native lads are at present carrying firearms. In practically all cases these are cheap pattern, small-caliber weapons.

SCHOONER HALL ARRIVES.

The schooner E. K. Hall arrived from Port Townsend after an uneventful passage of 22 days. During the first part of the passage, light south-west and southeast winds were experienced. After this the Hall was helped along by fine northwest breezes which lasted for three days. After crossing the 140th degree, the Hall encountered light, variable and baffling winds which caused her much delay.

The Hall brings a million and a half feet of lumber and piles. She is at present lying at the lumber wharf, where she will discharge.
